

DICE Portal

Ease of Access to Information

Now Micro's DICE Portal is a one stop shop for all computer systems asset information, helping customers to make better device lifecycle management decisions. The tool allows customers to easily access detailed information about their purchases, as well as easily export asset information to their configuration management database (CMDB) or other internal inventory management system.

Product Features

- Up-to-date and extensive information on devices purchased
- Real-time data on devices when they enter Now Micro production
- Flexible and easy to use interface that provides customized information
- Quick and adaptable exporting of data to be used in a variety of applications
- API access to device information through REST and SOAP interfaces

DICE Allows You to Custom Sort All Device Data

